HOW MANY PEOPLE USE ICE

Relatively few Australians use methamphetamines, such as ice

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th></th>
<th>% Australians who reported using methamphetamines:</th>
<th>% Australians who reported using the following substances:</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>Haven't used methamphetamines</td>
<td>94%</td>
<td>Alcohol 78%</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Used in their lifetime</td>
<td>&lt; 6%</td>
<td>Cannabis 10%</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Used in the last year</td>
<td>&lt; 1%</td>
<td>Cocaine 3%</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Source: 2016 National Drug Strategy Household survey

Among those who do use methamphetamine, ice is becoming a more popular form of the drug

- Ice: 36% increase
- SPEED: 30% decrease

Source: 2016 National Drug Strategy Household survey

A number of data sources indicate harms related to ice use have increased, including methamphetamine-related:

- Helpline calls
- Drug and alcohol treatment episodes and hospital admissions
- Dependence and psychosis
- Deaths

Last updated: Wednesday, 12 April 2018